A Word from the Absent GM

Droves of runners turned up for Albert's run, great stuff! Albert managed to get a couple of trays of MDNP Tigers, which resulted in a thoroughly Bacchanalian offering, and by 11pm the intoxication level was staggeringly high. Great food, excellent run, plenty of beer, so Albert got his reward: a nice dog shampooing. By the way, let's give the BRBs (back-running bastards) a bit of respect and start the makan only when everybody or almost everybody is back. We're a drinking club with a running problem, not an eating club. The GM was shocked to see one member (who will for now remain nameless) show up around 7:15 just to wolf down the makan and 15 minutes later bugger off..... that's a big NO-NO and will be dealt with in style!

The GM got another shock to the system hearing again the popular yet useless non-argument that "in 20 years of Hashing I've never heard of it...". Anybody using this "argument" will be iced immediately even if icing might mean instant death for the OFs. Anyway, the point being made was that leaving the runsite clean and in good order is the HARE's responsibility. "Never heard of it" is complete BS!

Run #2274 of 11 June:
Hare: Albert Moh
Runsite: Youth Park, new carpark
Scribe: Roger "Rabbit" Choong

For those that have a penchant for adventure, a run from the Youth Park is normally hardly an inspiring experience. The surrounding hills and dales, farm tracks, streams, PVC pipes and cement trails have been so thoroughly explored and trampled that seasoned runners know the area like the backs of their hands. It's an open invitation for regular SCBs to shirk their duty of physical exercise for betterment of health. But that notion was soon dispelled as Albert Moh, hare of the day, had a few surprises in store for the runners...

From the word "GO!" and not even 20 meters from the start of the run, shameless SCBers in no small numbers are already in their stride, clambering up the embankment of the road, scrambling into the woods and disappearing from sight. The rest of the runners diligently followed paper turning right further down at a turnstile and just moments later catching up with the "front-running" SCBs. "Their days are numbered – we'll put all the son-of-bitches on Ice!", threatened the GM. But none seemed bothered at that point in time. It remains to be seen whether there is more bite or bark from our new GM. [Editor's (On-Sex's) note: no need to wait for the GM to return, VGM1 Hock Keong wil Ice the buggers tonight!]

Paper veered off to the left as we started to climb and in less than 10 minutes, FRBs hit the 1st check. Shouts of "On-Paper...." After a couple of minutes the searchers shifted their attention to the right as front runners scrambled to recover lost ground and everyone surged forward towards the noise amidst faint but audible echoes of "On Call, On Call".

For those who weren't present at the Vesakhi run and didn't read that newsletter, "On Call" in this instance wasn't about Dr Gopi getting paged to rush to a patient's side. As our illustrious and erudite GM has been attempting to impart to us with his lessons in proper Hash lingo, "if we don't keep pace with rest of the world, we become obsolete" hence we all must know by now that "On Call" means you're responding to another Hasher's call of "On-Paper" and heading in that direction but have not yet laid eyes on actual Paper yet yourself. Non-conformists be forewarned, Icy forces shall be brought to bear – witness poor Monty Python having had his arse well and truly frozen a couple of weeks back.

Back on the run, we zigzagged upward through thorny scrubbrush and crawl-throughs where only the most sadistically minded (and skinny) can take you and On Up until a familiar flat spot where another Check was encountered. No problems here, yours truly dived into the right trail and hollered "On Paper!" with Mr. Blue (Ah Lum) in tow. "Fat-Legs" Ah Tian was long gone. Meanwhile, the ever-voracious Shark circled around unsuspecting "Take Care" Ah Chye, catching him red-legged SCBing and taking mental note of the crime for Icy retribution later.

On the On-Down there were lots of familiar sights, not much different from the one we ran couple of weeks ago. Mini Sausage came barreling down after us towards the end of the run, flattening small trees in his path. Front runners were back in <50 minutes and the rest trickled in about 10 minutes later. Cautious runners returned after 90 minutes, and finally last but not least, Snowy and Uncle Ooi emerged from the dark jungle at about 8:30 PM to a spontaneous round of applause and hearty rendition of "Why Were They Born So Beautiful?"

The Circle expressed appreciation to the Hare for providing delicious curries and 4 crates of beer, by unceremoniously Icing him. Take Care's return as a guest to Hash and his earlier indiscretion were also well rewarded with song, drink and shampoo treatment (and we'll keep on Icing him until he rejoins!).

Runstats: 5.46KM; 7597 steps; 286 Kcal (2 beers); 1hr.20.
